Letter from Ben

I am blessed and very grateful to be the Middle School Math teacher. I love math and have used it throughout my careers, both as a Naval Officer and as an energy engineer. But my desire to teach Middle School math goes beyond that.

My family and I have attended First Presbyterian Church for about 30 years. My wife, Susan, and I were married here and our boys, Josh and Matt, were born and raised attending church here. We all serve as musicians with the church worship team and I have been a youth group teacher and music director for most of the past 30 years.

I believe middle school students are getting to know themselves and are beginning to explore their own faith during these critical years. Jesus is my Lord and Savior and I particularly want to share with them how the Lord has shaped my life through both good and challenging times. I believe we can lay a foundation of learning pre-algebra to prepare them for high school as well as a foundation of faith that will last them a lifetime and into eternity.

Blessings,
Ben Montoya
